Another Huge Potential Army
Will Then Go On the Records

President Roosevelt has set Feb. 16 for the registration of all male citizens and most aliens of the nation between the ages of 20 and 44 who have not registered previously. Men in this age group are subject to military service.

No mention was made of registration of men between 45 and 65, who are to be registered later on, but who are exempt from service with the armed forces under the present legislation.

Registration applies to all male citizens and some non-citizens born on or after Feb. 16, 1897 or on or before Dec. 1, 1921. It will take place in not only the United States, but also in Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Short Wave Amateurs

To Work With Police and Fire Departments in Emergency

Short wave radio amateurs, who are interested in working on the 2½ meter band being established in Rockland under the supervision of the Police Department, should attend the meeting that is to be held at the city building on Sunday night.

An installation is being made in the welfare department section of the building and an antenna is being set on top of the building. A test will be made in all sections of the city with the amateurs, who are already signed up for the emergency work, testing out their portable sets from all sections of the city, both for receiving and transmitting with the central station.

This unit will work with the police and fire departments in time of emergency and will not be dependent upon the usual power supply as all units are portable and powered with batteries.

A Double Funeral

Sympathy of Many Friends
Shown At Services For Dorothy and Margaret
Snow

Double funeral services for Miss Dorothy Snow and Miss Margaret Snow who were fatally injured in an automobile accident Saturday night, were held at the Burpee Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Walter S. Rounds of Lewiston, a former pastor of the Rockland Congregational Church, officiated. He was assisted by Rev. Roy A. Welker, pastor of the Congregational Church.

The attendance was so large as to overflow into the adjoining rooms of the Funeral Home and the sympathy of the friends of the deceased was further demonstrated through the wealth of floral offerings.

Bearers for both were Richard, Carl and Sydney Snow, brothers of Miss Dorothy Snow; William Rounds, brother-in-law of Miss Dorothy Snow; and Hugh and John Snow, brothers of Miss Margaret Snow. Interment was in Achnor cemetery.

Friends and relatives of both families attending the service from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Snow, Braintree, Mass.; Mrs. Albert K. Glover, Charlotte, N. C.; Elmer V. Bryan, Medford, Mass.; Mrs. J. Fleming Coy, Quincy, Mass.; Miss Elizabeth Snow, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Madison Hart, Thomaston; Miss Gertrude Rath and Miss Isabel Hancock, Abbott Academy, Andover, Mass.; Miss Mabel Snow, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. Mervyn ap Rice, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rounds, New York city; Miss Abigail Seamans, New York City; Miss Mary Wasgatt, Cambridge, Mass.; Miss Frances Snow, Cambridge, Mass.; Miss Florence Dunn, Waterville, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Snow, Auburn, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Sydney P. Snow, Worcester, Mass.; Richard P. Snow, Cleveland, Ohio; Rev. and Mrs. Walter Rounds, Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. William Rounds, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whittemore, Portland; Mrs. Flora Blackington, Portland.

THE LATEST WAR BULLETINS

Tokyo reports a naval battle in the western Pacific. Washington is silent on the subject. The Japs are bombing and machine-gunning defenseless towns in the Philippines.

Britain's forces last night were stubbornly contesting a renewed Japanese onslaught along a semi-circular west Malayan front which was spearheaded by the famous Japanese Fifth Division, veteran shock force of a dozen campaigns in China.

Congress is giving serious consideration to the sales tax proposition.

Rumors that Finland is ready to withdraw from the war against Russia are denied in Helsinki.

Daylight saving for the entire year appears imminent. Thefts of rationed articles may bring imprisonment during the duration of the emergency.

Rockland Lions

Hear Timely Talks On Defense By Mayor Veazie and Chief Russell

The Rockland Lions Club had two pinch hitters as speakers yesterday and so interesting did their discussions and the open forum prove that they stayed on nearly half an hour after the traditional closing of the time period.

Mayor Edward R. Veazie left no doubt as to the importance of the civil defense program, termed by somebody as the fourth arm of National Defense. It was top-heavy at the start, but has been streamlined into a few departments, chief among which are fire, police and air raid wardens. The co-ordinator for Knox County heads up the law enforcement bodies and has a full corps of deputies.

The Rockland Police Force has been augmented by men of the right kind who will not be called upon unless an emergency exists, but who have agreed to take certain training including first aid, chemical warfare and traffic.

The Fire Department speaks for itself, but has to know a little bit more than the mere handling of hose. The disaster committee devotes itself to housing, feeding, medical service and demolition. The women's division training corps is eventually absorbed by the men's division.

The air raid wardens group has to know everything about raids and the results, together with enforcement of the blackouts.

Mayor Veazie went on to explain something about the airplane spotter service, based on information given at a recent meeting in Portland.

"Volunteer for something," he pleaded, "you are bound to learn something that will be for your good."

The mayor said that due notice would appear in the newspapers as to the local distribution of sand, to be used in the extinguishing of fires started by bombing planes.

"Keep away from black material in preparing blackouts," warned the city's fire chief, Van E. Russell who also warned against those injurious individuals who are going abroad through the country offering complete blackout sets for $20 to $300. Any material that will keep the rays of light within will do.

Chief Russell also inferred to

To Mitchel Field

Maurice K. Shepherd of Rockland To Take New Assignment

Staff Sgt. Maurice K. Shepherd of 5 Hall street, Rockland has just completed a course of instruction in line foreman at the Signal Corps School of Fort Monmouth, N. J.

The Signal Corps School is one of the service schools maintained by the various branches of the Army for advanced specialized training for officers and men. The students in the school come from all parts of the United States and include Regular Army, National Guard and Selective Service personnel, as well as Coast Guard and Marine Corps students. They are chosen for their special qualifications in communications work.

Staff Sgt. Shepherd is scheduled to leave Fort Monmouth Jan. 14 to take up his assignment at Mitchel Field. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Shepherd, enlisted for Army, Sept. 27, 1940. Before entering the Army he was employed by Glendennings Market as a clerk and has studied at Rockland High School.

While at Fort Monmouth, he distinguished himself by attaining high grades in his subjects.

"hot shots" (as he called them) who are advancing many so-called practical ideas, but who don't know what they're talking about.

"Come up to our quarters," he said, "and get acquainted with the gases, bombs and other war implements."

"Protection against bombers is your job; you're not going to have any help from anybody, if half of the city is afire, that's your job, for the Department cannot be in 40 places at once."

Yesterday's session of the Rockland Lions Club was one of 4,000 such "Victory Week" meetings to be held throughout the country. In connection therewith it was voted to send a telegram to President Roosevelt pledging the loyalty and support of the Rockland Lions Club to the National Defense effort.

The ship Thomas Wilkey, of the Rebekah fleet, under the command of Capt. Maude Cables, will start on its first voyage next Friday, Jan. 9 at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Grace street at 2 p. m. It is hoped that the crew will be present to report for duty.

[EDITORIAL]

SAFETY IN THE STORM

There are other dangers beside war, and one which we have with us annually concerns winter weather conditions, and the attendant menace to safety on the highway. Vigilant State officials are doing everything in their power to minimize these dangers, and we note with approval the efforts of Lucius D. Barrows, chief engineer of the State Highway Commission who says that highway departments will do everything possible, of course, to keep roads open but there must be reasonable co-operation by drivers during storms and immediately after. This is always logical, but the War Emergency makes it more important to conserve lives, cars and man-hours by practical methods. Chief Barrows offers the following timely warning advice:

Skidding and obscured vision are the two greatest dangers at this time of year, according to research by the National Safety Council, he declared. Tire chains should be affixed to rear tires, and windshield wipers should be waggling in perfect fashion. If they aren't, don't drive! We cannot afford traffic tieups and accidents at this time, and important traffic must get through.

To motorists he recommends: drive much slower during the blizzard, and turn on lights in the daytime, if necessary. Allow more distance for stopping, even if safeguarded by chains. Chains used on rear wheels alone cut down stopping distance by 40 to 60 percent, but should not be expected to duplicate stopping ability of dry pavement. Cars must be conserved. Make sure your defroster is working.

Suggestions to pedestrians include: don't depend on the ability of all motorists to stop on snow and ice, as some may have neglected to put on their coat collar and blindly cross the street. Walk carefully, and hold on to railings when descending icy stairs—a fall may incapacitate you for weeks.

Accident facts show that deaths suffered in auto traffic annually increase from 35 to 45 percent in northern States during the winter months. This gruesome figure may be reduced by practical co-operation between those who drive and those who walk.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Practically everybody who owns a radio tuned in Tuesday noon to hear President Roosevelt's message to Congress, and the published reports impart little additional information, except as to the enthusiasm and wonderment with which the news of this country's war preparations was received by those close to the throne. The nub of the President's address concerned the preparations which the United States is making for the defeat of Hitlerism and the brutality of others of his ilk. The message was re-broadcast in many languages, and was heard in every country on the globe—where folks were permitted to listen. Judging from the amazement which greeted the speaker here at home—where all of these activities are going on—what a sensation they must have created in the other war zones—the elation, for instance, in England, Russia, China, and the dismay in Germany, Italy, Japan and the subjugated countries.

A mere declaration that "we are going to win" would have been met with a nominal amount of applause in the anti-Axis countries, and probably with sneers and defiance in those lands, so that what the President of the United States really said, while a bird of the same color, was couched in terms of grim forcefulness, not to be under-rated or denied. Outlining this country's arms production for 1942 and 1943, the President tersely laid the following figures in the laps of the listening Congressmen.

This year, 60,000 planes; next year, 125,000.
This year, 45,000 tanks; next year, 75,000.
This year, 20,000 anti-aircraft guns; next year, 35,000.
This year, 8,000,000 tons of shipping; next year, 10,000,000.
"These figures," said the President, "and similar figures for a multitude of other implements of war will give the Japanese and Nazis a little idea of just what they accomplished in the attack at Pearl Harbor."

It will cost a matter of fifty-six billion dollars—figures which will make the taxpayer gasp, but if it means a quicker conclusion of the war—and Victory—the country will take it and like it.

THESE ARE STRANGE TIMES

Shades of William Jennings Bryan! Here's a Canadian despatch which says that the people of that country may be eating from silver cans before the war is over. Experiments are under way for substituting the precious metal for tin in containers for canned fruits and vegetables. In another column of the same newspaper which made this announcement was the suggestion of an Ohio philatelist that one-cent stamps, protected by a tough transparent wrapping replace pennies in order to preserve defense-vital copper. What next will this awful war do to us?

"SPEED WILL SAVE LIVES"

(Herald Tribune)

With the flood of weapons thus produced, President Roosevelt expects this country to wage defensive war only where and so long as it must defend, and aggressive war wherever and as soon as it can do so. He expects our ships to fight on every sea; he expects our armies to go wherever the one objective is to be best accomplished. He promises an expeditionary force in the British Isles, and leaves no doubt that in the Far East will see another. And he rests this bold and gigantic effort on the firmest of all possible grounds: "Speed will save lives;" the maximum effort now will shorten the war, limit its agonies, reduce its moral and material destruction and the more surely attain the end which the President sees in the highest terms. "We of the united nations are not making all this sacrifice to return to the kind of world we had after the last war." The 26 members of the great alliance stand not for the past but for the future, and in its name they are "determined not only to win the war but also to maintain the security of the peace which will follow."

To such a directive every American man and woman is ready to respond. One cannot help regretting that it was not issued a year and a half ago; that the mobilization was so long delayed, that so much time has already been lost and that so heavy a price must be exacted for it. But it is useless to look back at what cannot be helped; President and people must alike share the blame for complacency and muddle. All that is done. One can only look forward now. These colossal production figures, this aggressive resolve and these high purposes must now be translated into reality; on President and people there now lies the tremendous responsibility of properly organizing the effort and seeing it brought to fruition. That responsibility must and will be met.

Ora Brown, Jr., of Camden and Frederick Merritt and Malcolm Haswell of Rockland are scheduled to leave the last of this week for acceptance into the R.A.F.

Arrivals at the F. J. O'Hara plant yesterday were the Iva M. 23,000; Boston College, 17,500; Dorothy M., 8,000 and the Ames J., 7,000.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

The eastern skyline at the North End has been made a bit brighter through the removal of one of the Lime Company's gas kilns, and workmen have now tackled a second.

The Maine Development Commission may lose a valued worker if the Army service claims Dick Reed, which he now believes to be an early probability. The former Rockland news writer could gather lots of interesting material while helping skin the Axis warriors.

Don't spend too much time worrying as to where your next automobile tire is coming from; keep a close eye on those you now have. County Attorney Stuart C. Burgess has received a tip from Attorney General Cowan that wholesale theft of tires is in progress in some sections, and he recommends that car owners adopt some method of identifying such property in the event it is stolen.

The Camden Fire Department kicks up its heels tomorrow night when it holds its annual banquet at the Masonic Temple in that town, with an expected gathering of 200 business men and other citizens, and with Joseph Flynn of the State Insurance Commissioner's office as guest of honor. Camden citizens are justly proud of Chief Engineer Payson's modern fire-fighting department, and these annual banquets have come to be historic occasions. Among other guests will be Mayor Edward R. Veazie and Chief Engineer Van E. Russell of Rockland.

President Roosevelt is on the eve of his 60th birthday. Now can't the Army, Navy and Air Force do a little something extra in the way of celebration?

Seems like they're having a marathon in Russia, but the participants are not Russians.

Goes As Instructor

Hugo Lehtinen Will Train
Students At Southern Aviation School

Hugo Lehtinen of Long Cove, who has long been associated with aviation in Rockland, is to leave today for the Southern Aviation Training School at Decatur, Ala., where he is to act as instructor. This school is training several hundred primary students for the Army Air Corps. Mr. Lehtinen was manager of the Curtis-Wright Airport until it was sold recently and was an active member of the Rockland Flying Club as well as a student instructor.

Good progress is being made on the new McIntosh icehouses at the head of Chickawaukie Lake, replacing those which were recently destroyed by fire. The ice is also doing quite well, thank you.

Ex-Alderman William J. Sullivan, book-keeper at the Perry coal office, was a very busy man yesterday, dividing his time between his clerical duties his basketball squad and answering congratulations on his wedding. The wedding, as reported in a Portland newspaper happened to be that of William J. Sullivan of Boothbay Harbor.

The late Joseph G. Piper of Rankin street was evidently an official of much importance in the organization known as the Iron Hall which recently came back under the spotlight as the result of somebody's inquiry. Frank M. Piper, who now occupies the residence recently came across a trunk which was laden with documents and paraphernalia relating to the erstwhile insurance order.

The April 19 Marathon race will be watched with more interest than usual by a public which is beginning to be fascinated by the possibilities of the human foot.—Ed. Pointer in the Boston Globe.

"Who Is This Man?" The picture on Page 3 of Tuesday's issue is that of the late John Doherty, father of John E. Doherty, who died Feb. 16, 1900, at the age of 78 years. He was born in Ireland, son of Daniel and Mary Doherty.

Less than 200 persons attended a "big" civilian defense meeting in Bath Tuesday night, according to the Times. If there is any place on the eastern Maine coast which demands strict defense it is Bath. But perhaps there was a basketball game on, and that is Bath's most popular indoor sport.

One year ago: Ex-Gov. Percival P. Baxter was in the city for a conference with Col. Harry F. Ross—George W. Hamlin was elected master of Rockland Lodge, F.A.M.—Died: Elmore, Ira G. Hart, 83; Waldo, Mrs. Kate M. Matthews, 90; Warren, Andrew (Wilson), 67.

THE INNER VISION

Most sweet it is with unlighted eyes To pace the ground, if path be there or none. Save Your Tires

And If You Want To Know Why, Just Read the Following

Tire rationing, the first real economic blow to the man in the street as a direct result of the war, has brought home the fact that rubber tops the list of strategic materials going into the arsenal for America's armies.

As important as steel and indispensable as aluminum, rubber is a military essential for war equipment that ranges from boots to gas masks, jeep wagons and trucks to tanks, bombers to battle ships. Today's doughboy rolls on rubber.

Supplementing the thousands of posters at gas stations and dealers' stores—"Defense Needs Rubber—Save Your Tires"; "Your Part: Get the Most Out of Your Tires"—the public is being advised on the why and how of tire conservation and told that anyone who uses a car unnecessarily is taking rubber from jeep wagons, gun carriages and the bullet-proof gas tanks on the country's planes.

Military requirements for rubber according to data assembled by the O.E.M. Regional Information Office in Boston, reveal the following figures:

In a 35,000 ton battleship, for example, there are 75 tons of rubber—150,000 pounds, or enough to make some 10,345 tires.

A 28 ton tank (medium size) takes 1,750 pounds of rubber.

A gas mask requires 1.81 pounds of rubber.

A 10-ton pontoon bridge requires 3200 pounds of rubber.

Two hundredths of a pound of rubber go into every roll of adhesive plaster required by the Medical Corps.

Into every raincoat purchased by the Army go 2.14 pounds of rubber.

A half-ton truck takes 125 pounds of rubber, mostly in tires.

A 2 1/2 ton truck takes approximately 525 pounds of rubber. These are 8-wheel affairs, using 12-ply tires, and usually carrying 4 extra tires as spares.

A cable assembly used by the signal corps requires 150 pounds of rubber.

A 75 m.m. gun carriage requires 175 pounds of rubber. A troop carrier takes 332 pounds. A 37 m.m. anti-aircraft gun carriage 190 pounds. A scout car uses 339 pounds.

Tires for planes require anywhere from 33 pounds each to 96 pounds, depending on the size and type of plane. Inner tubes for those tires take from 24 to 55 1/2 pounds.

Bullet-proof gas tanks on flying fortresses use 1246 pounds of rubber, the P40 pursuit gas tank take 90 pounds.

Pneumatic rafts carried by planes in case of emergency use require 29 pounds of rubber each.

To Re-locate Poles

Telephone Company Given Permission At Special City Meeting

A special meeting of the City Council was held Tuesday night to carry out unfinished business of the inaugural meeting of Monday and to hear petitions for the re-location of light and telephone line poles.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company was granted permission to re-locate certain poles within the city and a petition of the Central Maine Power Company was set for hearing Feb. 2.

A petition of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company for the installation of underground gasoline storage tanks was referred to the Chief of the Fire Department.

An order, which was presented at the inaugural meeting and was tabled for further consideration, at the suggestion of Alderman Gilbert, giving the Mayor and City Treasurer power to sell property which the city had taken on tax liens. At Tuesday night's meeting, the order was revised to include the City Property committee of the city council, and was passed by the Board. This order will allow the Mayor, city treasurer and the two members of the City Property committee to dispose of real estate that is taken on tax liens or by arrangement through the care of elderly persons by the welfare department.

WASHINGTON—AND YOU

By Margaret Chase Smith

Washington, Jan. 7 — The Seventy-seventh Congress is now beginning its second session. There has been no adjournment since the beginning of the term last January, except from day to day or for the twice a week meeting system which is constitutional. The Membership has felt that the situation is too serious for us to leave the Capital for any length of time. Under the three-day system, a few stay here and go through the motions of keeping Congress in session with agreement that no important business will be transacted unless Members are called back.

I was sorry not to get home for Christmas but felt that I should stay here, since I have been home many times in the last session. I was fortunate to be here and hear Prime Minister Winston Churchill at a joint session of the House and Senate. He made a splendid speech, frank and courageous, yet showing real humor at times. One gallery card for each Member in town was issued for this meeting. Alice Whiting of Winthrop, teacher at Cony High School, who was visiting her brother, Lt. Com. Charles Whiting, at Annapolis, was having lunch with me Friday. I was pleased that she could also see Mr. Churchill and attend the joint session.

On the floor at the Churchill session was Honorable Beatrice Rathbone, American-born woman who is a Member of the British Parliament and has the privilege of the floor of our Congress. Recently I was a guest at a dinner given for Mrs. Rathbone by Secretary of Labor Perkins who has a home in Newcastle and keeps up with Maine news very carefully. She referred several times during the evening to the excellent way Lincoln County was being organized for civilian defense, of her visit "home" over Thanksgiving and items she reads in the Lincoln County News.

With the close of the first session of the Seventy-seventh Congress, I am closing the first year's record of these letters, which have been written home to my constituents through the kindness of newspapers in my District. The first of these was written last January and in them I have reported to you on my stewardship of the office to which the voters of the Second District elected me.

The 52 Letters have been bound in a looseleaf book, indexed, so that subjects may be readily found. In them have been made statements on measures and issues which have guided me in my votes and the index will be very helpful in the future when I wish to find out exactly what transpired on any specific occasion. With this volume of Letters is a detailed record of votes, those which are by teller as well as record votes.

The officials of the House keep record votes tabulated for each Member and these are also published in the Congressional Record but very often important votes are by division or teller without a name-by-name record. By jotting my votes down each day as I make them, I will have a continuous record which includes a brief explanation of the meaning of each vote in its relation to the legislation under consideration.

Although this is my first Congress as a Member elected for a full regular term, it is the second in which I have served because I was elected to fill the unexpired term of my late husband the last six months of the Seventy-sixth Congress. I have announced my candidacy for re-election and have about 500 nominating petitions in circulation.

Arthur Oppenheimer, Jr., assistant to Chairman Milo Perkins of the American section of the Joint War Production Committees of Canada and the United States, has been in Maine many times and is familiar with its problems. This has been helpful in our conferences regarding the effect on Maine of the co-operation between the two countries which the President has called for and which is the business of the Joint Committees.

Legislation may be necessary for tariff and other barriers to the close co-operation necessary for defense production. The President and Canada feel that each country should produce what can be best and most quickly produced in each with interchange of raw materials and easing of all restrictions which hold up efficient flow between the two countries. While this integration applies to the whole country, Maine as a border State may be affected in particular ways and Mr. Oppenheimer is keeping me informed as the program of co-operation gets going. My Committee on Post Offices has taken approving notice of the action of the President to reduce postal rates on airmail and parcel post carried to and from the armed forces of the United States when they are stationed outside the continental limits.

The domestic rate of six cents per half ounce is all that will be needed for airmail going anywhere to our soldiers or coming back from them. This only holds good where United States mail service is in operation and not where another Nation is necessary for the carriage. The rate of six cents now in force between Alaska, Canada, Newfoundland and the United States will continue the same.

When sending parcels, you need only to pay the regular fourth-class rates you would pay from where you are to the post office from which the parcel will be shipped. This applies to fourth-class parcels addressed to the personnel of the armed forces of the United States stationed at leased bases or on naval vessels or other places outside the United States where our mail service is in operation.

Our soldiers, sailors and marines sending ordinary letters from outside the United States may send them postage free.

There will be considerable saving for airmail letters, since, for instance, the rate to the Philippines is 50 cents a half ounce, whereas our men can send their mail hereafter for six cents. There is no airmail service to Greenland and Iceland.

For parcels, it will make no difference how far they will go after they leave our shores—you pay only the rate from where you are to the last post office in this country where the parcel will touch. This will be at fourth-class rates. Up to now, eighth zone rates have been necessary for parcels shipped to armed forces outside this country.

TALK OF THE TOWN

No action was taken yesterday in the case of Walter Chaplin, Jr., of Rockland who was scheduled to appear in answer to charges arising from an automobile accident on the New County road last Saturday night in which Miss Dorothy Snow and Miss Margaret Snow sustained fatal injuries. County Attorney Stuart C. Burgess stated that the case would be presented to the Knox County Grand Jury at the February term for their consideration.

The Knox County Minister's Association will meet at the First Baptist Church in Rockland Monday, Jan. 12. Dinner will be served at 11:30 a. m., followed by a meeting at which Warden Welch of the Maine State Prison will speak, and show motion pictures. Ministers and their wives are invited.

EMMA CALVE
Those who have memories of the Maine festival and there are many still in this section will also have vivid memories of the beautiful singer Emma Calve, who has just died in France. A beautiful voice, a beautiful personality and a beautiful woman.

Rabbits And Smelts

Two Subjects On Which Any Sportsman Will Talk Nowadays

As anglers and nimrods talk war and long for Spring about the only activity they can find in their favorite sports along Maine's outdoor trails for the next three months is rabbit shooting and ice fishing. Although neither of these sports are of a major variety they do have a lot of enthusiastic boosters and offer invigorating outdoor thrills and fun.

Maine rabbits are of the snow-shoe variety and thrive in nearly every county with the bulk of the shooting taking place in the central and coastal areas. Open season is from Oct. 1st to Feb. 28 in all counties with Franklin and Somerset open until March 31 and Waldo until March 15. Although many nimrods go after the snow-shoes without dogs, the real sport is to take a good hound along and organize some action.

It isn't as easy as it would appear to hit one of the bounding bunnies especially when just a flick of white shoots up in the bush. Maine has countless thousands of these animals and if one wants to organize an expedition wardens in the various localities will be glad to give information on the best areas.

Ice fishing is another sport which can be enjoyed in almost any section of the State throughout the winter months and if you know your stuff, the hours spent on ice covered, wind-swept lakes and rivers can be made comfortable and thrilling.

The first important step in making preparations is a thorough study of the 1942 ice fishing law book just issued by the Fish and Game department. A great number of waters are closed to this type of fishing while others have special rules and regulations. It is a very easy matter for nimrods to find themselves involved with the courts unless they are careful where they swing into action.

Generally the booklet lists the various waters and whether they are open or closed and states that bass cannot be taken through the ice at any time. All licensed anglers can fish five set lines, but in the daytime, only except for cusk which can be taken at night, all waters covering 10 acres or less are closed. The bag limit is 10 pounds per person per day.

Some anglers have large and comfortable cabins which they slide onto the ice and watch their flags from this well heated structure. Others build a fire on the shore or the ice and manage to keep warm while waiting for action.

Smelt fishing through the ice on the tidal rivers is another good sport and by far the most comfortable. Sliding your cabin on the ice, it is a matter of setting it over some holes and fishing while the chowder is cooking. Bloodworms or pieces of fish are usually used for bait and the catches run large.

The Fish and Game department is receiving its usual large number of reports of dogs chasing deer but one of the best stories comes out of Fairfield Center where a farmer was attacked by vicious canines while rescuing a doe. F. C. Wheeler was first attracted by the baying of dogs and saw the exhausted doe in his front yard. While attempting to drive the dogs off with a club, Wheeler was attacked by the leader of the pack but finally won the battle and carried the deer to the barn. Calling a warden, Wheeler administered first aid to the animal and it is believed that it will recover. Commissioner Stobie has instructed his wardens to do everything possible to eliminate this menace to Maine's deer population and the men are constantly on the alert. Citizens can do their part by keeping their dogs at home or under constant surveillance, he said.

Thirty members of the Knox-Waldo Schoolmen's Association met at Hotel Rockland Monday night for dinner and to hear Harry V. Gilson of Augusta, state commissioner of education, speak on "The Schools and Defense." Mr. Gilson stressed the formation of radio and model airplane clubs in the schools as a means of acquainting the students with the modern methods of communication and transportation so vital to defense.

The Weather

Folks who like good old-fashioned winters must have chuckled with glee over one phase of it this morning when they glanced at their thermometers and saw them registering from 10 to 15 below zero. If that's the "good old fashioned stuff" give us the modern version swing music and all. As this paper went to press the weathervanes were pointing uncompromisingly into the northwest, the sky was blue, the snow crunched under one's boot heels, and there was every prospect that there will be no demand for electric fans tomorrow.

County Attorney Stuart C. Burgess and P. A. Winslow motored Tuesday night to Belfast, where by the request of the members Mr. Winslow presented before the Business & Professional Women's Club his lecture "The Children of Callender," telling of the visit which he made to the Ontario town three years ago to see the Dionne quintuplets and Dr. Dafoe. It was Mr. Winslow's third appearance before the Belfast B.P.W. Club.

Oliver R. Hamlin has sold his farm in South Thomaston to Victor Ramsdell and moved back to Rockland—in "beloved Ward 3," as he puts it.

Rationing Of Tires

Steps Which Have Been Taken Locally—The Classification

The tire dealers from all sections of Knox County met with Tire Rationing Board 14, which covers all of Knox County, at the City Building. The board explained the procedure of obtaining permission to purchase tires under the supervision of the board. Each step necessary was explained in detail and the quota for the month of January was announced.

The board, which is comprised of Morris B. Perry as chairman; Elmer B. Crockett and Walter C. Ladd, has established an office in the second floor corridor of the Post office building and maintains office hours from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily, Monday through Saturday.

Applications are available at tire dealers or at the office of the Board. Dealers who have not yet obtained their supply of applications may receive them from the local office.

A person may fill out an application for the purchase of tires or tubes, either at the dealers or the board office, following which, he must go to an inspector who will examine the tires or tubes on the vehicle and determine the need for new ones. Following the examination, he will fill out the section of the application designated for his use, giving a full report on all tires on the vehicle as to their condition, and whether or not they are in condition to be retreaded or re-capped.

The application is then submitted to the local board which will determine if the applicant comes under any eligibility classification. Should their findings be favorable, a certificate of purchase will be issued which will permit the applicant to buy the needed tire or tube.

Below, are shown the classifications as listed on the application blank issued through the tire rationing board.

Eligibility Classification

List of vehicles which may be equipped with new rubber tires, or tubes:

No certificate shall be issued unless the applicant for the certificate certifies that the tire or tube for which application is made is to be mounted:

(a) On a vehicle which is operated by a physician, surgeon, visiting nurse, or a veterinarian, and which is used principally for professional services.

(b) On an ambulance.

(c) On a vehicle used exclusively for one or more of the following purposes:

To maintain fire fighting services; To maintain necessary public police services;

To enforce such laws as relate specifically to the protection of public health and safety;

To maintain garbage disposal and other sanitation services;

To maintain mail services.

(d) On a vehicle, with a capacity of ten or more passengers, operated exclusively for one or more of the following purposes:

Transportation of passengers as part of the services rendered to the public by a regular transportation system;

Transportation of students and teachers to and from school;

Transportation of employees to or from any industrial or mining establishment or construction project, except when public transportation facilities are readily available.

(e) On a truck operated exclusively for one or more of the purposes stated in the preceding sections or for one or more of the following purposes:

Transportation of ice and of fuel;

Transportation of material and equipment for the building and maintenance of public roads, public utilities or production facilities;

Transportation of material and equipment for the construction of defense housing facilities and military and naval establishments;

Transportation essential to render roofing, plumbing, heating and electrical repair services;

Transportation by any common carrier;

Transportation of raw materials, semi-manufactured goods, and finished products, including farm products and foods, provided that no certificate shall be issued for a new tire or tube to be mounted on a truck used (a) for the transportation of commodities to the ultimate consumer.

CHAPTER V

"And then?" asked Harcourt. Janice went on:

"I saw you. I clutched at your suggestion that we go out for dinner. Suppose my resentment proved but a wooden sword of defense against Ned Paxton's persuasive smile? Suppose I broke, I asked myself. If I were out of the house when he came, its strength wouldn't be tested. And then as we talked all my old liking for you, my trust in you, came sweeping back. You sold me Alaska. When you spoke of the secretary you couldn't get I had an inspiration. After my first year in Society with the large S, feeling as futile as a goldfish in a crystal bowl, bored to tears by the ceaseless round of teas and dinners and dances, of ushering here, selling something there, I plunged into a secretarial course and made good, rather exceptionally good. Father lost his money before he died. I had the choice of three alternatives: marriage, living on my brother, or getting a job. The first was no longer to be considered; the second was an impossible situation. Why should I not take that Alaskan position? Remember that I observed that there would be dozens of girls ready to go?"

"I do."

"Well, later in that sleepless night I began to wonder why you should have been the man out of all the hundreds of girls in the city to appear at the dramatic moment to pick up my slipper. You had acknowledged that you believed that there was an unknown force in the world which no one as yet understood. That force wouldn't bother with me the second time, I argued. If I were dumb enough to ignore its attempt to help, was this my chance to earn a living, to escape the publicity which my cancelled wedding would broadcast? Remember that you said that young trees grow more sturdy after transplanting?"

"They don't bring plants from a hothouse to this wilderness and expect them to grow."

"Perhaps they don't. But, Bruce, I'll take a chance that I'll flourish. Harcourt steeled himself against her charm. 'Go on! Explain Jimmy Delevan!'"

"Mussolini! Holding my nose down to the grindstone of facts, I said:

"I'll say you have. What's he going to do?"

Harcourt looked from Grant's round, smooth face, with its brilliant green eyes, to Janice's. A man like Paxton wouldn't let such a lovely girl slip away. She was safe here. The outfit needed her.

"Sentence!" she demanded impatiently. "I hate to be kept in suspense. Sentence!"

"Jimmy Delevan goes."

At Grant's sharp protest and an indignant exclamation from Janice he held up his hand.

"Wait a minute! Your secretary stays. Tubby, be sure to tell the Trent. And if she stays she will do exactly as I say." Ignoring her indignant protest, he went on: "Make up your mind to it—otherwise there is a boat going out tomorrow—and you go with it."

His jaw set grimly. How a feminine invasion could mess up a situation! His turmoil of mind was reflected in his voice.

"Does Jimmy Delevan go or does Miss Trent stay?"

"Miss Trent stays," the girl assured promptly.

"Then she is not to report for work until after the boat goes out tomorrow." Without waiting for an answer Harcourt crossed to the door.

As he walked toward his office his thoughts returned to Janice Trent. She had run away from her prospective bridegroom because she didn't trust him, yet loved him so much she didn't dare stay. His lips tightened.

The Hales would be off tomorrow. Millie had been sweet as much, but she had claws, and he had a conviction that she would scratch deep and raggedly where other women were concerned. She had reigned as queen in this outpost camp. She would not abdicate gracefully.

At the door of his office he collided with a man coming out. His red face registered relief.

"Been looking for you every where, Chief."

"What's wrong?"

"Hale! Had a slight shock. We radioed to Fairbanks to ask if we should take him to the hospital by plane. Answer came, 'No! Keep him here.'"

"We can't keep him here."

"Search me. Mrs. Hale says he'll go tomorrow if he goes on a stretcher—but the Doc will have the say."

"Where were we, Miss Trent?" Theodore Grant Junior tilted back in a chair beside the typewriter desk in the administration office he and Bruce Harcourt shared at headquarters.

Janice read from her note-book. Grant's voice went on and on till steam-shovel gangs and ditching gangs filed in endless procession through the girl's mind. She stopped for an instant to flex her fingers. Grant noted the surreptitious action.

"I'm sorry. You're such a bird at it I forget that you're not a machine. That will do for the present."

He picked up his papers. As he rose, Tong, who had been dozing in a pool of sunlight, sprang to his feet, thrust a cold nose into his hand, looked up at him with hooded glances.

eyes. Grant patted the tawny head absently as he glanced out of the window. The businesslike crispness of his voice changed to companionable friendliness.

"Ba-gosh! There's Millicent Hale. I wish she'd stop hanging round here. She's after Bruce, I'll bet my nat. She's getting on his nerves. He's pretty edgy. My mistake. She's gone on, to the Waffle Shop probably, praise be to Allah."

"Is she Harcourt's girl?"

"They are not. But, Joe Hale is sore. If he could find the least flaw in the character of his successor, our villain without portfolio would laugh his head off. There have been some fierce rows among the Crowned Heads because through influence he has been kept on the job; some of them are seeing red. One breath of scandal about Harcourt and they'd chop his professional head off with a blow."

He departed. Tong bestowed a moist doggy kiss upon Janice's hand before he followed at his heels. She thoughtfully watched the man and dog out of sight. The usually ebullient Tubby was troubled about his chief. Unnecessarily troubled, she decided. How could any sane person look at Bruce Harcourt and believe for an instant that he would be dishonored? But, Hale probably wasn't sane when he thought of his successor. After all, it could be surprising if Bruce had fallen in love with the only attractive white woman on location or she with him when she realized the sort of man to whom she was tied. He had said the night they had dined together in New York:

"Life—human life in Alaska—is no different from life in other places. People are born, die, marry and divorce, love and hate, the last into a little hatred, perhaps, than when nearer civilization."

She clasped her hands behind her head, tipped back in her chair, regarded the moss-chinked walls, the old-time Yukon stove, which made the modern filing cabinets seem blatantly nouveau riche, the high desk at which the chief of the outfit worked when he was in the office. Through a open window she could see the kennels and the huskies in the yard, some rollicking, some soaking in sunshine, some yelping. A plane droned far overhead. She could see it, a gigantic bird against the blue dome. Bruce? Her mood changed. Silly to think for an instant that he would be interested in another man's wife.

Months had passed since the night Bruce Harcourt had returned her slipper, had brought vividly to mind her childish adoration of him. When he had stepped out upon the stage of her life again he had seemed a divine answer to her prayer to know what was right to do. Their paths crossed. Immediately the pattern of her life was changed. Her trust in his belief in him, in his power to surmount obstacles, surged up from her subconscious where it had lain quiescent through the years. He knew what he wanted and went after it. Why shouldn't she do the same?

The way which had threatened to be rough with complications had smoothed out like a trotting-park when she had seen the Samps. They had told them the truth at once. Gaunt Miss Martha's agate eyes had disappeared in a network of fine lines.

"If you're bent on keeping this job, tell Harcourt the truth, quick, or he'll send you back hummin'. Keep clear of Hale; he might—well, just keep clear of him, that's all."

Three weeks had passed since she had discarded her disguise and gone to the office in one of the sports suits of her troupeau. The engineers had greeted her with smiling courtesy, the workmen with sheepish grins. What explanation had Bruce Harcourt made to them? She had her own log house now, connected by a covered passage with the Samps cabin. It had gone up as by magic after Bruce had decided that she might stay.

Bruce had commanded her to keep out of sight till Hale had sailed and then—Hale hadn't sailed. The physician from Fairbanks had decided that it would be a risk to move him, that he would be better where he was, had warned him against excitement, letting his temper get the best of him. Was his wife in love with Bruce Harcourt? Was he in love with her? Had Millicent Hale been one of the lures which kept him in this northern wilderness? Did she resent the presence in camp of another woman of his class?

What did Bruce Harcourt think of it all? He was rarely in the office. One day he would be up the inlet in the launch to inspect the damage done by the rise of a stream, next he would be off with a section-gang and a steam-shovel; perhaps before forty-eight hours had elapsed he would be miles away inspecting the work of a ditcher. Not once had he entered the Samps cabin which had become the evening rendezvous for the engineers. Why didn't he join them? Why did he treat Tubby Grant's secretary with distant courtesy? Her leisure time was full. Jimmy Chester was teaching her to shoot; Tubby was patiently training her to be a fairly efficient photographer; the geologist of the outfit provided her with a hammer and showed her how to get at the secrets pebbles and rocks had concealed within them. What fun she and Bruce might have together.

The ring of the telephone brought her iridescent day-dream and in the front legs of her chair down in a simultaneous crash. She answered the call.

"Office."

"Hale speaking. Is this Miss Trent?"

"Yes."

"Will you take pity on a poor duffer who's been forbidden to write and take a letter or two for me?"

"Certainly, Mr. Hale. When?"

"At once if you will. I want it ready to go in the first plane that takes off."

"I will come."

Averill's Letter
Nation's United Will Is To Exterminate Hitler and the Japs

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—James Westerland, who spoke at a meeting of the Rotary Club, is reported as saying "The trend of socialism, particularly its teachings in schools and colleges, is greatly to be deplored."

The subject of socialism is not an issue in our country at this time. This subject should not be dragged into discussion now, not only because such discussion is unnecessary but because it is very dangerous to the public welfare. The discussion of socialism in itself is every citizen's right but its discussion is dangerous at this time by diverting public attention from the mortal issue that threatens the nation.

Without entering into any discussion of socialism, the writer would report that the standard authorities on the subject would advise that socialism is a principle that could not possibly be established in any country until the great majority of the people accept and demand it. In the United States there are from forty to fifty million workers in our mines, mills, factories, railroads etc.

Before socialism could become an issue, these millions of workers would have to advocate it and a national political party would have to be formed to give it a great majority support. But far from even thinking of such an issue at this time, these millions of workers have foregone their basic strike rights for the protection of their wage scales and working conditions.

They have voluntarily imposed a ban on strikes and accepted control by government authority in order to insure an "all out" war production for the protection of the people against the bloody tyranny that threatens us. Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labor, in a radio broadcast, has paid these workers the tribute of being among the first to place themselves in the vanguard of those who would protect the nation.

These workers, by their action, have solidly established their loyalty to the country and their fighting comrades at the front by thus giving all their power to the production of the war materials necessary for our protection.

The following report will show what Hitlerism is:

More than 180,000 persons have been slaughtered in the Nazi puppet State of Croatia, part of former Yugoslavia, the Yugoslav legation in London has learned. London radio said in a broadcast heard by the United Press listening post yesterday, Jan. 2, 1942.

An Archbishop of the Orthodox Serbian Church reported details of the killings and torture to the legation, according to the broadcast which also said the slaughter was ordered by the "Quisling Pavelitch" (Premier Ante Pavelitch) and his gangs.

In one village, the Archbishop claimed 163 peasants were tortured, tied in groups and thrown into a pit. Bombs were thrown to finish them off, and then gasoline poured over their bodies and set afire.

Among 100 killed in Salonika, many were said to have had their ears and noses cut off.

"One can see every day 30 to 40 corpses floating along the river," the Archbishop was quoted as saying in his report. "One can often see members of a whole family tied together. In one place four Serbs were crucified on the doors of their homes."

This is the thing that is smashing at our doors at Pearl Harbor, Wake Island and at Manila. This is the thing that proposes to trample over us. Surely we have no time to discuss issues that do not exist when this is the thing that we face. This is why the 50 million workers as we have risen to turn our automobile plants into plane factories to wipe these friends off the face of the earth. This is why every Socialist, Republican, Democrat, worker, farmer, capitalist, college club, social club and everyone else should unite behind the fighters at the front and the war workers at the rear to meet just this menace and nothing else.

Any discussion, any controversy that diverts from this one issue that faces us, is treason to the workers and fighters who are giving their all to save the nation. Any dissension is playing into the hands of Hitler and the Japs. Hitler's agents will do everything to play on group prejudice and create dissensions. Anyone who listens to anything except the policy of a united nation to smash Hitler and the Japs can be sure that they have fallen into Hitler's trap.

Until the war is won, the only people and the only things to criticize are those who discourage, create dissension or obstruct by profiteering or other means the united will of the nation to exterminate Hitler and Jap fascism.

MAINE IN WASHINGTON
Maine Delegation in Wartime—Automobiles and Tires—Maine Summer Business
(From the Office of Senator Ralph O. Brewster)

The Maine Delegation in Washington start the new year with an earnest endeavor to readjust their activities to the revolutionary conditions of wartime. The Romans had a saying that "In time of war, laws are silent." Something of the same thing may be said regarding lawyers and lawmakers. Whatever may have been thought regarding the "rubber-stamp" aspect of the Congress in former days certainly in war times the charge is much easier to substantiate because of the concentration of all thought and energy in the executive department for the winning of the war.

For better or worse Franklin D. Roosevelt is the war President of the United States. Every American must earnestly hope and pray that he will be as great a President in this crisis as Washington, Lincoln, and Wilson in meeting the crises of their day. Whatever may have been the case in times of peace we are now a team that is on the field. We cannot constantly argue with the quarterback regarding the signals that shall be given.

Congress must provide funds to fight the war but the executive department under the restrictions of wartime secrecy must determine in large measure what is required and where it shall be used and the adjustment of our economy to the requirements of wartime production.

Congressional Function
This does not mean that Congress has not tremendously increased responsibilities in wartime but they are of an entirely different sort.

Senator White for instance, as a member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, must be in constant contact with the most intimate details of our international relationships but about this very little can be said.

As a member of the Committee on Appropriations, he must constantly examine department heads regarding expenditures but here again most of the information relating to war supplies must be kept quiet.

Meanwhile Senator Brewster on the Naval Affairs Committee is in almost constant session on the resolution from air power while the Committee on Commerce is considering the almost equally vital program for the rehabilitation of our merchant marine to serve as the bridge of ships. The Truman Committee investigating defense expenditures, of which Senator Brewster is a member, is also holding daily sessions and helping by its inquiries to save millions of dollars directly and indirectly in eliminating or scaring off racketeers.

Automobiles and Tires
The sudden prohibition by executive order this past week of the sale of all new automobiles preliminary to the introduction of a priority and allocation plan such as that now prevailing for new automobile tires illustrates something of what we have ahead.

With 400,000 new cars in the dealer's hands, and 200,000 to come in January this will mean six to seven hundred thousand new cars for this next year.

One thinks first of the workmen in Detroit who will be transferred into the production of instruments of war as rapidly as possible. Next come 400,000 Americans dependent for their livelihood on the distribution of automobiles. Salesmen will be in large measure superfluous when a long waiting line is forming seeking vainly to secure priority in allocation. Parts and accessories will be required in increasing quantity to keep the old car functioning but here again salesmanship will tend to become a lost art.

In England, however, it appears the repair business has doubled and trebled. Anyone competent to help in keeping an automobile functioning has all that he can do.

This situation presents an excellent illustration of what America has ahead as we move more and more deeply into involvement in the war.

Maine Summer Business
Florida expects its Winter business to be cut approximately in half and depression is rampant in the luxury resorts of Miami and Palm Beach.

Maine should not suffer as much as Florida because our recreational business is considerably older and more firmly established. The Winter vacation idea is of comparatively recent growth. The timing of the war effort is also in favor of Maine as everyone is tending to stay rather closely on the job during the first few months while the readjustment is coming to war conditions. By Summer the lesson of England and Germany will be learned that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" and the wisdom of a short period of quiet, restful vacation such as Maine affords will come to be more and more generally recognized as a patriotic necessity. Maine may well govern itself accordingly and shape its recreational advertising on this keynote and adjust its Summer offer to these needs.

Maine air as a tonic for war workers may well be our theme.

Maine will be affected, however, by the curtailment of automobile use which seems inevitable. The people are not going to be using up cars and gasoline and automobiles when they are not sure where they are going to get any more.

Maine, however, may well make a virtue of this necessity by emphasizing the value of spending two or three weeks in a quiet, restful spot in the Maine woods or along the Maine coast and co-operating with the railroads to educate the people of New England and the northeastern United States as to how quickly and cheaply and comfortably Maine may be reached by railroad.

Maine built its Summer business before the day of the automobile and may well change its emphasis to this type of appeal in the conditions of today.

Civilian Defense

Thomaston Workers Have Meeting and Report Progress Accomplished

A meeting of the various chairmen of civilian defense in Thomaston was held at the home of Mrs. Leah Davis, town chairman of the women's group, Tuesday night. The purpose of the meeting was to attain better co-ordination in the defense work in the town and the results were gratifying and satisfactory.

There were 17 present, including County Disaster Relief Chairman John Pomeroy, and three chairmen from Friendship. Mrs. Davis opened the meeting with the suggestion that one of the first essentials seems to be an office. Rev. H. F. Leach, chief air raid warden, who, with Mrs. Laura Libby, has been attending the air raid precautions school at Augusta, spoke of the need for a report center. This it was decided to furnish an office in Watts block, to be the report center, using it for the present for meetings and an information bureau, to be kept open as much as possible with the present number of volunteers. In case of emergency this would become the report center, open 24 hours.

Mrs. Libby gave an interesting report of her attendance at the air raid precautions school. She is to conduct a class in this course to prepare women wardens starting right away. Mr. Leach also reported on the school, giving suggestions for the defense against air raids.

LT. Barbara Batchelder reported on the progress of the Motor Corps and Stephen Lavender on his progress on transportation and messengers.

It was announced that anyone desiring training in any of the courses offered should report to Mrs. Marion Grafton, chairman of all training courses.

Fire Chief Anderson reported that there are now two first aid classes, one including chemical warfare, in progress in town and that an advanced course would be held at the completion of these.

The meeting then developed into a sort of open forum, with Mr. Pomeroy, Mr. Jordan town co-ordinator, and Mr. Dorman answering questions. It was felt that a great deal had been accomplished at this meeting and was decided to hold another meeting next Tuesday night at the report center at 7:30 to report further progress.

NAOMA MAYHEW
Correspondent
Tel. 713

The Philathea Class will meet Friday night in the Baptist Church parlors.

A daughter, Martha Elaine was born Monday night at Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewall Hill have rented the Tewksbury house on Pearl street.

It is hoped that there will be no necessity for house canvassing in the Emergency Red Cross Drive which is being conducted here and in Hope at the present time, but funds are coming in slowly and to date only $895 of the $2,035 quota for the two towns, has been received. This amount is comprised to a great extent, of larger contributions from $5 to $200 and it is stressed that gifts of $1 or less will be appreciated. Mrs. Myrtle Sherman at the Selectmen's Office will receive contribution.

At the annual meeting of the Business Men's Association, Monday these officers were elected: Horatio Stevens, honorary president; Harold S. Corthell, president; F. W. Miller, John P. Leach, vice presidents; Robert Jamieson, purchasing agent; John Paul, treasurer and collector; C. C. Wood, auditor; and John Tewksbury, secretary. The house and entertainment committee is composed of: David Crockett, Frank Morrow, Percy Drake, L. Proctor, M. Payson, Gilbert Laite, Erskine York, William Packard, William Reed, Douglas Heald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmont D. Heald, who is a member of the club, was honored at this meeting as he leaves this week to enter the service. He received a completely equipped Army kit presented from the group.

A semi-annual business meeting was held Tuesday at the Rotary Club. Secretary Charles Lord gave a report on the activities of the past six months. An attendance contest to run for three months starts at the next meeting with Gilbert Harmon and Charles Lord as the team captains. The losing team will entertain the victors at a Ladies' Night April 7. A large delegation attended from the Rockland Club.

APPLETON MILLS

The first meeting of the Red Cross Home Nursing Class will be held at the parsonage Friday night, from 7 to 9, with Mrs. Wilson of Hope, a graduate trained nurse as instructor. Mrs. Wilson has completed the Institute Course at Rockland, and her credentials have been approved at Washington. Anyone who is interested in taking this course is invited to attend. All those who have not turned in their placement cards are requested to do so immediately, to Miss Fannie Gushee, placement chairman.

To Have Annual Banquet and Ladies' Night Jan. 22—Hallet As Speaker

The banquet committee of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, David Crockett, George Dyer, George Thomas and Henry Baldwin, announces that it has been fortunate to secure Richard Matthews Hallet, well-known author and radio commentator, as the speaker at the third annual Chamber of Commerce turkey banquet and ladies' night at the Masonic hall Jan. 22 at 7 p. m. The committee has also secured the services of A. Burton Stevenson, Jr., as toastmaster.

"Who's Who" lists Richard Hallet, of Boothbay Harbor, as the writer of many stories in the Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Harpers and other magazines, and of the books, "Michael Beam" and "The Rolling World." As a speaker he is also outstanding having addressed groups in many States and in Canada. When called on to make a few comments extemporaneously at a Camden Chamber of Commerce meeting in October, 1940, he had his listeners in such gales of laughter that he nearly "rolled them in the aisles."

For the past year Mr. Hallet has been very close to the political situation in Maine and in Washington as featured editorial writer and radio commentator for the Gannett Publishing Co. He will give a talk of both vital interest and high entertainment.

A turkey banquet will be prepared and served by the women of the Eastern Star.

Reservations for tickets should be made immediately, the committee advises, for the capacity of the hall is limited and the caterers must know the number to be served by Friday, Jan. 16.

Tickets may be purchased at Beynon-McKay's, Camden Drug Co., Libby's Pharmacy, Morrow's or Crockett's Store or Thomas Fuel Company.

entertained at the hall by Mrs. Evelyn Pitman and Mrs. Carolyn Page.

Mrs. Alice Wadsworth is ill with measles. Edna and David Paul are ill with measles and whooping cough.

Guests of their parents during the holiday season were: Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sherman and daughters of Houlton, at Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherman's; Miss Ruth Arrington of Penobscot, and Cecil Arrington of South Portland, at Mr. and Mrs. William Arrington's; Miss Olive Gushee of Colebrook, N. H., and Richard and Paul Gushee of Pawtucket, R. I., at Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gushee's.

Mrs. Helen Wentworth of Hope was a visitor recently on business concerning the Red Cross. Mrs. Carolyn Page gave a talk Monday in the schools, in the interest of the Red Cross and Defense Stamps and Bonds.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Allen P. Payson, Chief of the Fire Department of Camden, is conducting a First Aid class at the High School building. This class started Monday night and beginning next Monday will meet two nights a week. It is expected that those who take this course will be ready to take the instructor's course which is to be given in March by Nathaniel Parker of Boston. There is still opportunity for a few more to take this course and any who plan to do so should be at the High School Monday evening at 7 o'clock for the second lesson. At that time plans will be made for the second evening in the week on which the class will meet.

Those who have signed up at the present time are: Edith Tangway, Katherine Blethén, Frank Ross, Mary Snow, Alvin Small, Minerva B. Small, Mildred B. Sweeney, Doris V. Coltart, Ida M. Hughes, Esther F. Bird, Leroy C. Brann, Clara T. Kelsey, Mary A. Browne, Elizabeth H. Rackley, Horace P. Maxey, Elsie Burbank, Arnold S. Nelson, Edwin Jones, Clifton A. Cross, Evelyn P. Cates, Carol T. Jilison, Lucille Curtis, David G. Hodgkins, Jr., and Fred C. Black. Mrs. Catherine C. Libby is acting as assistant instructor for this group.

Mrs. Lenore Savage, chairman of the Placement Bureau, has announced that 119 have registered for training in First Aid under the Civilian Defense program. Other registrations are: Canteen, 7; Wardens, 57; Home Nursing, 84; Nurses Aid, 44 Nutrition, 50; Food Conservation, 16; Auto Mechanics, 10; Publicity, 12; Recreational Leadership 13 and Motor Corps 35. Several of these courses will not be given in this vicinity and others will be given in connection with them in courses and not as a separate unit.

The tire rationing office on the second floor of the Post Office will be open from 9 to 4 daily. Volunteers will be in charge of the office and will be ready to help anyone who wishes to make out an application for a tire. Those who have been assigned for work there are: Mrs. Beulah Allen, Miss Anna Gordon, Mrs. Molly Ladd, Mrs. Julia Keene, Mrs. Muriel Emery, Mrs. Ida Huntley, Mrs. Winifred Leighton, Mrs. Gertrude Burrows, Mrs. Grace Flanders, Mrs. Hester Chase and Miss Virginia Bowley.

A new consignment of Defense Bonds have been received at the Post Office and are on sale at the registry windows.

Mrs. Ida Dondis, sponsor for the Air Raid Warden classes, announces that air raid warden classes will be started immediately and anyone who wishes to join and has not registered at the placement bureau should do so at once in order that her name may be entered on the list.

Mrs. Eugene O'Neill, sponsor of the First Aid classes, has announced that a standard adult class will start Monday evening at the Masonic Temple, the hall having been donated through the kindness of the Temple Corporation. As this first class is to be made up largely of school teachers and those who have already taken the Motor Corps and Air Raid courses and need First Aid before they can get their certificate, it is requested that no one attend this class unless they have been notified to do so. Other classes will start as soon as instructors can be secured and all who have registered for First Aid will be notified in time. Elmer Joyce and Alton Foster who are accredited instructors of a high standard will teach these classes and the equipment will be furnished through the

ONE thing to be said about the "Messengerettes" serving Canadian National Railways in many Canadian cities, is that they do not whistle. ## Buy Defense Stamps

Patriotic Employees of Fox Lunch Devoting Themselves To That Purpose

Everyone knows the United States needs war materials; everyone knows war materials cost money; everyone knows the government must raise the necessary money through taxes or through voluntary contributions in the form of defense stamps and bonds. But not everyone does something about it. Most of us intend to buy defense stamps. But we don't. It isn't that we don't want to spend the money or think it a waste of our hard-earned cash. We just don't get around to it. We put it off till tomorrow, and tomorrow just doesn't get here.

It remained for the employees of the Fox Lunch, 295 Main street, to supply the answer. Each week every employee buys a defense stamp, contributing 2½ percent of his pay for this purpose. Every pay-day bookkeeper Mario Ferrero, who suggested the idea originally, deducts the 2½ percent from the pay of each worker in the restaurant and buys one or more defense stamps for the contributor, distributing the stamps with the worker's pay envelopes.

Workers everywhere are so accustomed to having tax deductions for one thing or another taken out of their pay that they never notice the loss of this small amount. And it is not "lost"; it is saved, and before long their defense stamp albums will be full and can be turned in for defense bonds. It's a painless way to save money.

Mrs. Alice Bigney

Death At Greenville of a Well Known Worker For the W. C. T. U.

The cause of temperance and general morality in Piscataquis county and the State of Maine lost one of its most earnest and devoted workers in the death of Mrs. Alice Rowe Bigney which occurred at her home in Greenville.

Mrs. Bigney, born in Bangor Sept. 3, 1857, was a woman of the highest principles and throughout her life was always arrayed on the side of civic righteousness. The work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was particularly dear to her and for many years she was very active in its councils, both town, county and state. She had been president of the local and county organizations and served as a member of the press department, executive committee and was corresponding secretary of the State group as long as her health permitted.

One of her principal lines of work was the sending of material on temperance lines to the various papers of the State and the name "Alice M. Bigney" was well known to readers throughout Maine.

While in Bangor she united with the First Baptist Church, but on going to Greenville affiliated herself with the Union Church of that town, and there, as in temperance work, she was active as long as she could be.

Mrs. Bigney was a woman of keen intellect, unbounded energy and unswerving purpose and any cause which she was allied received the best she had to give it.

"Mike" Ristaino's employees are enthusiastic over their scheme to "save money for Uncle Sam" and they hope their plan may find favor in other places of employment and that other workers may take up this voluntary method of contributing to national defense. Their war-cry might well be: "No quarter for the enemy, but every quarter we can spare for Uncle Sam!"

The Bible Foundation, the national non-profit Bible educational group formed several years ago here, also maintaining offices in New York and Aurora, Ill., announced its purchase of The Biblical Digest, a monthly magazine that has been published in Siloam Springs, Ark., for the past four years.

Mary E. Hughes, the Executive Director of the Foundation, said in part:

"The Digest has been published continuously for the past four years. Our plans for it cover many improvements. In addition to doubling the present number of its pages we will add several departments containing Biblical information. Its particular field is to publish a digest of Bible news from the leading religious magazines and newspapers of the world. Special articles on the Bible from the pens of writers and prominent persons will be regular features."

The editorial offices of The Biblical Digest are in the Presbyterian Building, 156 Fifth avenue, New York City.

The War Fund Drive

Mayor Veazie Issues a Proclamation Anent the Red Cross Effort

Whereas the people of the United States and their armed forces, following a direct and unprovoked attack by an alien power, have entered with determination upon a state of war; and

Whereas expansion of our Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, and of our war industries will proceed upon a scale unprecedented in our history; and

Whereas American citizens are suffering great injury and property loss from air attack and are in need of direct and immediate help; and

Whereas further preparations must be made to protect American cities and American populations from unnecessary suffering during air attack or disaster caused by sabotage; and

Whereas the American Red Cross is the only organization in our land equipped and ready, first, to provide welfare assistance to the men who are defending our country at home and overseas, through the services of Red Cross Field Directors, volunteers, and blood donors; second, to assist American evacuees from danger zones; third, to further equip our communities with trained Red Cross Motor Corps, Canteen Corps, Nurses Aide Corps, First Aid units, and other vital rescue corps instrumental in saving human life; fourth, to bolster the strength of the nation and the nation's war effort by such services as Accident Prevention, Disaster Relief, Home Nursing and Public Health Nursing; fifth, to train our young people in the paths of service and good citizenship through the medium of the Junior Red Cross; and

Whereas such a program as outlined above will necessitate the expenditure of large sums of money:

Therefore, I Edward R. Veazie, Mayor of Rockland call upon the members of my community to give through our local Red Cross Chapter their generous and unstinted support to the American Red Cross emergency war fund of $50,000,000 as outlined in President Roosevelt's recent proclamation. This fund not only will aid the national Red Cross to expand its services, place them upon a war basis, and permit this great organization to play its traditional role in saving life, and in helping our country achieve its final victory, but also will aid our local chapter in meeting its war-time public service obligations; and I further proclaim that your contributions to this fund will represent your tangible share in our mighty battle for freedom, for justice, and for the very survival of our nation.

He plans a Summer laying shelter, also a roadside stand where he will sell apples, vegetables and poultry products. He has had a great deal of experience along the selling end having worked for many years for the A. & P. stores.

Plans are being made for a vegetable and also a fruit tree pool this year. Persons interested should contact County Agent R. C. Wentworth, Rockland.

L. G. Whittemore of Damariscotta Mills recently sent a sample of some field corn to the Extension Service Office, Rockland. He has had very good results with this corn and feels that more farmers in the county should raise it. He is proprietor of Lincoln County Hardware Company at Damariscotta.

As To Farm Credits

On This Subject Will Center
Discussion At Meeting
In Auburn

Farm or credit problems created by the war and by the need for food to win it, will be the key note of the eighth annual meeting of the Auburn Production Credit Association, scheduled for next Tuesday, according to Dr. John A. Ness, the association's president. Notices have been mailed to the credit co-operators' 300 members including those in Knox and Lincoln and York Counties.

Principal speaker at the meeting will be Gordon Cameron of Springfield, Mass., whose topic will be "Financing Food for Freedom." Reports will be presented by the association's officers on results of the past year in which some $230,000 of farm production loans was supplied to the nine counties.

Two members are to be elected to the association's board of directors. Those whose terms expire are Foster D. Jameson, Waldoboro and Robert Pike, Cornish.

Program for the day's session, scheduled to start at 10:30 a. m. will be interrupted for dinner at noon to be served by the Elm Street Universalist Church and will conclude at 3 p. m. Recognized as one of the outstanding farmers' meetings of the season, the event is expected to draw upwards of 200 farmers.

Eighteen million nickels were produced by the Philadelphia mint alone in March, 1939.
